RECOGNIZING THE CITY OF WAUKEGAN'S 150TH ANNIVERSARY

HON. MELISSA L. BEAN

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, December 14, 2009

Ms. BEAN. Madam Speaker, I rise to recognize Waukegan, a city in my district that is celebrating a milestone anniversary this year. This community has made a unique contribution to the district I represent, and to the State of Illinois.

The City of Waukegan is celebrating its 150 year anniversary. Located 36 miles north of Chicago, Waukegan was first established in 1725 as a trading post known as Little Fort. In 1849, residents approved the name of Waukegan, the Potawatomi equivalent of Little Fort and incorporated in 1859. Waukegan continued to grow through the 19th century as a center of industry—Waukegan harbor was one of the busiest on the Great Lakes and several major railroads traveled through the city. These railroads became indispensable to the larger industries which appeared in Waukegan in the later part of the century. Today, Waukegan is largely a residential community, though has continued its tradition of industry with companies such as Abbott Laboratories, Baxter International, and National Gypsum.

Madam Speaker, this city is unique in its history and adds to the vibrant community of the Eighth District of Illinois. I thank all the past leaders of the City of Waukegan for their dedication to public service; their community would not have reached this milestone without their hard work and commitment. I congratulate Waukegan for reaching their 150th anniversary and I wish them continued success in the future.

RECOGNIZING A. PHILIP RANDOLPH, A LEADER IN THE CIVIL RIGHTS MOVEMENT

HON. CHARLES B. RANGEL

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, December 14, 2009

Mr. RANGEL. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize A. Philip Randolph for his great life's work, demonstrating an unyielding struggle for human rights that impacted all marginalized groups in society during his time. He was an influential leader who had a hand in the civil rights and labor movements.

A. Philip Randolph firmly believed that workers' rights and civil rights went hand in hand. He was influential in speaking out for African American rights during the 1930s and 1940s, focused particularly on labor and employment issues, and he was the leading force behind the March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom.

Not only did he lead a 10-year campaign to organize the Pullman Porters and served as the organization's first president, but Randolph directed the March on Washington movement to end employment discrimination. He was also elected a vice president of the newly merged AFL-CIO in 1955. Mr. Randolph was instrumental in changing the way Black Americans were treated in the workplace, and workers today are still benefiting from his efforts. A. Philip Randolph realized the importance of organizing Black workers and used this position to advocate for desegregation and respect for civil rights inside the labor movement.

It is only fitting that we recognize Randolph for his contributions as a founding father of the early civil rights movement. A. Philip Randolph struggled for social, political, and economic justice for all working Americans, and recognizing him in Congress is a long overdue honor that Randolph's legacy deserves.

CAMP ASHRAF DISPLACEMENT

HON. TED POE

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, December 14, 2009

Mr. POE of Texas. Madam Speaker, on December 10, 2009 the Iraqi government announced that it is going to forcibly displace thousands of Iranian dissidents living in Camp Ashraf to a remote prison in the Iraqi desert. The Iraqi government knows the world recognizes Camp Ashraf as a refuge for those who stand tall for freedom and democracy, so it is demolishing their homes they have lived in for over 20 years and moving them to southern Iraq, where the Iraqi government thinks it can do whatever it wants to them and the world won't notice.

The families in Camp Ashraf's biggest crime is that they love freedom and oppose the oppressive Iranian regime. Tehran has for months now pressured the Iraqi government to hand over Camp Ashraf residents so it can imprison and torture them just like they do to all
